Establishing the ultimate relationship

“An Intimate Walk,” a new book by Tawan Chester, seeks to build a close and eternal relationship with God the Father.

Virginia Beach, VA: “An Intimate Walk,” a new book by Tawan Chester, creates for its readers the ultimate relationship – a close and eternal bond with God the Father – and the spiritual peace that it brings.

“In our world today, with its hectic and confusing existence, we all need to get in touch with our spiritual side to find any measure of peace,” says Chester, also the author of books such as “When Nobody Sparks a Paradigm Shift” and “Raising Slaves.” “Through ‘An Intimate Walk,’ people can discover and hone the ability to hear the voice of God, just as I did at one point in my life.”

Chester has been hearing the voice of the Lord since the age of nine, and her experience and constant spiritual connection have been distilled into “An Intimate Walk.” Published by Dumouriez Publishing, where Chester is head of operations, “An Intimate Walk” creates a lifeline for its readers.

From an “Intimate Walk,” readers will learn quick, easy steps to help locate and destroy factors that prevent miracles from occurring in their daily lives. The book helps readers open direct lines of communication with God, become a magnet for His blessings, open avenues of prosperity, improve interpersonal relationships, and use the power of thought to reshape even the most desperate of lives.

“An Intimate Walk” has already come in for some praise. Bishop Henry Mitchell Jr., of the Good Samaritan Church of San Diego, CA, said: “I know that if we have a relationship as written in ‘An Intimate Walk,’ it is possible to have a Christ-centered home and life.”

“Finding this ultimate relationship in our lives moves us from being a servant to a child or heir of God,” says Chester. “It takes only a few moments to start and will turn your life into a magnet for miracles. I invite you, therefore, to come take an intimate walk into this ultimate relationship.”
